

Hands off Roman Polanski!

The Catholic Church takes every effort not to make us forget that it has absolutely to be counted among the plague of humanity (as likewise only the Islam; jointly, they have brought more misery upon mankind than all fascist and Stalinist regimes together). As the 'secular arm' of the Catholic Church, the Polish justice minister Mr. Zbigniew Ziobro has appealed the decision of the Kraków court which recently had rejected as illegal the extradition of the ingenious director to his American tormentors (Besides the French nationality, Roman Polanski also holds the Polish nationality and has a residence in Kraków). It is true that the conservative Polish government withstands the EU dictates of conformity – in that respect comparable to the Hungarian Orbán government –, but its vassal's loyalty to the United States and the Vatican (that is to say, to 'Throne and Altar' in their present form) is unconditional and spineless. Thus, the Polish minister does not only act as the obedient servant of his Pope, but also as the obsequious lackey of the U.S. government that has just imposed upon the Polish people, right at their front door, missile systems poised against Russia along with American ground troops (The Soviet patronage of Poland may have been a nuisance, but it was never as thoroughly repulsive as this combination of religious terror and Imperialist dictate, since even Stalin's show trials and mass shootings did never succeed in blacking out entirely the basic humanist concern of communism that the priests pupil Stalin hated and wanted to wipe out).

As unclean as the Polish minister's endeavour is, as flimsy are his 'arguments', since he exclusively calls on the (sexual) envy of those who haven't got their share, the 'painters' and 'plumbers' and even 'doctors' as whose self-appointed advocate he pretends to act. Formerly, such methods and demagogic stereotypes were used to hunt down witches and heretics – this filth must be left on the garbage heap of history and shall reek there. In any case, it does not belong in a democracy that deserves this name.

Never again the Dark Ages!

Hands off Roman Polanski!
